Chrome Turns to Gold!

Avenging his defeat twelve months earlier, CALIFORNIA CHROME overcame a slipping saddle and a wide trip to win the $10 million Dubai World Cup-G1 in record time by the longest winning margin since 2009. With earnings of $12,532,650, he is North America's leading all-time money winner, eclipsing the previous record of $10,501,800 set by 2008 World Cup winner CURLIN.

LUCKY PULPIT

Sets New California Progeny Earnings Record

California's leading sire of 2014 with progeny earnings of $5.1 million, LUCKY PULPIT is currently the leading 2016 sire worldwide with progeny earnings of $6.7 million. He is the first California sire to surpass the $5.8 million earnings record established by UNUSUAL HEAT in 2008.

Chrome Shines a Light on California

When California Chrome romped home in the $10 million Dubai World Cup, he became North America's leading money-earning Thoroughbred. A California-bred has topped all others to become the richest horse ever in U.S. racing.

This prestigious honor is shared not only by his connections but also by all the past and present who have tirelessly worked producing and racing horses in the Golden State. Chrome's accomplishments over the past few years have brought not only recognition to the quality of horses bred in California, but also a sense of pride. Furthermore, he has helped stimulate the production and ownership of California-breds, as evidenced by the positive foal-crop trends and demand at commercial and private sales.

Yes, the more than $35 million Incentive and Racing Program is the chief reason for the positive trends. However, the accomplishments by Team Chrome have assisted in validating the potential successes associated with California breeding. For those of us who have helped craft all the advantages of our state-bred program (Golden State Series, Maiden Bonus, Breeder Awards, Stallion Awards, and lucrative restricted purses), this is extremely gratifying.

Before he conquered the world in the American classics and in Dubai, Chrome received his racing education and experience in Cal-bred races. California-bred maiden special weight races, as well as stakes at 2 and early in his 3-year-old season, helped prepare him to move up the ladder and compete in graded company, company that he has never left.

There have been some great California-breds over the years: Swaps, Native Diver, Bertrando, Snow Chief, Lava Man, Best Pal, and two-time Breeders' Cup Classic winner Tiznow. But few have captured the hearts and imagination of the Cinderella story that has surrounded California Chrome. His following is not just centered in California; it exists throughout the country. In fact, people from all over frequently contact us requesting copies of any material or promotional items that we produce that feature Chrome. The horse and all connections continue to be the proud face of the California breeding industry.

With that, the CTBA is pleased to include a commemorative insert in this edition of California Thoroughbred, depicting the journey and accomplishments California Chrome recently experienced in the 2016 Dubai World Cup. The first Cal-bred to win the world's richest race. CTB

Wrona Named Santa Anita Announcer

Michael Wrona, after serving as the Golden Gate Fields announcer for the last decade, has become Santa Anita's full-time announcer. Santa Anita made the decision in late March following the decision late last year of longtime announcer Trevor Denman to retire from Santa Anita.

Santa Anita and Golden Gate alternated announcers during the first part of 2016 between Wrona and Frank Mirahmadi. Craig Evans and David Fitzgerald, finalists from a worldwide search that included more than three dozen candidates, also auditioned at Santa Anita.

"This was a much harder decision than anyone could have imagined," said Joe Morris, senior vice president of West Coast Operations for The Stronach Group. "The finalists presented us with four incredible options, each a world-class announcer in his own right."

Wrona, who originally hails from Australia, was scheduled to begin his full-time position May 5, when Santa Anita launches its spring/summer meeting.

"I'm overjoyed and humbled that Santa Anita is entrusting me with a booth occupied by so few announcers in the track's storied history," said Wrona. "I would also like to acknowledge the unwavering support and friendship of the Golden Gate Fields management since I first worked there in 1992."

When Santa Anita opened in 1934, Joe Hernandez served as its announcer until his death in 1992. Santa Anita's other two primary track announcers were Denman and Dave Johnson.

Let the sun shine in: Cal-bred Sweetrayofsunshine splashes to victory in the Xtra Heat Stakes at Aqueduct

CALIFORNIA-BRED WINS AQUEDUCT STAKES

California-bred Sweetrayofsunshine captured the $70,000 Xtra Heat Stakes April 2 at Aqueduct in New York. The 7-year-old mare defeated four other older fillies and mares in the six-furlong stakes.

Black Diamond Racing bred Sweetrayofsunshine, a daughter of Benchmark—Tialinga, by Cee's Tizzy. Trainer David Jacobson claimed her on his behalf for $40,000 at Santa Anita Feb. 13.

With Jose Ortiz aboard, Sweetrayofsunshine vied with Enduring Touch early, took the lead around the turn, and scored by 3¾ lengths in 1:12.33. She went off as the 4-5 favorite and raised her record to 11 wins in 24 starts for earnings of $276,462.

IRWIN PROMISES NEW BOOK IS A COMPELLING READ

Owner/breeder and former California Thoroughbred Turf writer Barry Irwin aims to inspire and entertain with a new book named "Derby Innovator: The Making of Animal Kingdom," which was released in late March.

The book chronicles Irwin's personal journey with Thoroughbred racing and his adventures with Animal Kingdom, winner of the 2011 Kentucky Derby Presented by Yum Brands (gr. I).

"There are many different roads you can take to learn about the business and find success," said Irwin, who has been professionally involved in racing since 1969. "I grew up in a family that despised racing and gambling. I had no background whatsoever, but I found something about it that I gravitate to and it has been the most exciting thing in my life."

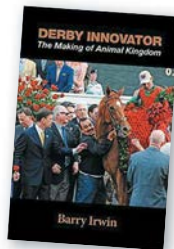

Barry Irwin

Along the road that took him to the Derby winner's circle, Irwin has met many characters and collected a lot of good stories. Three years before Animal Kingdom took the Derby, Irwin had compiled three chapters of his craziest stories.

Irwin stressed he has not written a tell-all book, but he said the stories he's included are gems.

"I will guarantee to the people who read this book they will read stuff in here that they have never read or heard of anyplace else," he said.

Reddam Racing Among TOC Award Winners

Paul and Zillah Reddam's Reddam Racing, will receive awards from the Thoroughbred Owners of California as the leading California owner of 2015 by purse earnings and by number of wins. The stable earned $2,922,316 with 49 wins, and their major runners include champion Nyquist and California-bred stakes winners Mrazek and Found Money.

Other TOC awards for 2015 will go to Karl Watson, Mike Pegram, and Paul Weitman as leading owners by number of California stakes wins with 10 and Kings River Ranch as leading owner by number of California starts with 296. The TOC selected owners David and Mark Greco, Patrick Grohl, and Brent Malmstrom as Rookies of the Year.

The winners will be recognized at TOC annual meetings at Del Mar Aug. 6 and at Golden Gate Fields on Oct. 22.

10 YEARS AGO

California-bred SCOTTSBLUFF initially raced at Turf Paradise in Arizona, but he returned to his home state for his fastest performance. In the $70,800 Bullet Stakes at Hollywood Park May 15, 2006, Scottsbluff set a world record of 1:00.26 for 5½ furlongs on the turf. With Victor Espinoza in the irons, Scottsbluff came flying from last to win by a half-length over favored Taikun, an Australia-bred. Jeff Mullins trained 4-year-old Scottsbluff for owner Dennis Weir. Dr. Sheldon Schoneberg bred the son of Siberian Summer—Foreverinason, by Air Forbes Won. Weir had purchased Scottsbluff as a yearling for $11,000 at the 2003 Barretts January mixed sale from the Havens Bloodstock Agency consignment.

mento Handicap at Golden Gate Fields May 4, 1991. John Deeter owned Bargain Doll, who was trained by Jim Benedict and ridden by Ron Warren Jr. The 4-year-old filly defeated French-bred Vieille Vigne by 3½ lengths in the 1¼-mile Sacramento. Bargain Doll ultimately won eight of 29 races and earned $255,819.

50 YEARS AGO

NASHARCO and CHICLERO, two California-breds by the stallion Nashville, won stakes at Hollywood Park on consecutive Saturdays in May 1966. Nasharco captured the seven-furlong Los Angeles Handicap May 21, while Chiclero added the 5½-furlong Hollywood Express Handicap May 28. The talented Native Diver and Sledge were in the beaten field of the Los Angeles. Dr. Robert Flinn owned Nasharco, who was trained by Roy Hodges and ridden by Bobby Jennings. Joe Gheen and B.R. Bingaman owned Chiclero, ridden by Bill Mahorney and trained by Bob Roberts. G.I. Martin bred Nasharco from the Khaled mare Twin-kling. Chiclero was out of the Mafosta mare Whirlwinder, bred by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Everett.

25 YEARS AGO

Movie star GREER GARSON made an impact on racing with her husband, Buddy Fogelson, primarily through racing 1971 Horse of the Year Ack Ack. Garson bred BARGAIN DOLL in California by crossing the Ack Ack mare Ackachina with Bargain Day, another stakes winner the Fogelsons campaigned. Bargain Doll captured the $100,000 Sacra-

Korby to Retire from CARF

Chris Korby will retire as the executive director of the California Authority of Racing Fairs (CARF) Nov. 1. He has served the organization for 29 years, 16 as the executive director.

During his tenure Korby launched simulcast operations for live horse racing from fairs and helped establish California's statewide satellite wagering network. He worked hard for the fair circuit, including overseeing a horse recruitment program, consolidating the purse program under a single racing secretary, and establishing a the CARF track safety and maintenance program.

"We've been fortunate to have Mr. Korby with us for so many years," said John Alkire, chairman of the CARF board of directors. "He's brought foresight, energy, and innovation to his service here."

Korby also serves on the board of directors of Northern California Off-Track Wagering Inc. and Southern California Off-Track Wagering Inc., the Northern California Vanning and Stabling Committee, and the California Marketing Committee.

MARJORIE LAMBERT

Marjorie Lambert, who with her late husband, Rene, bred and raced California-bred millionaire Sky Jack, died March 23 at her home in Los Angeles.

The Lamberts, who entered racing during the 1980s, combined their names into Ren-Mar Thoroughbreds, the name of their racing and breeding operation. They established 44-acre Ren-Mar Thoroughbreds, their farm in Temecula, and their three sons, Ricky, Rene Jr., and Russell, also became involved.

The couple bred Sky Jack, a 1996 son of Jaklin Klugman—Sky Captive, by Skywalker, and Doug O’Neill trained the popular gelding for them. Sky Jack raced from 1999-2003, capturing 10 of 18 races and earning $1,115,127. His victories included wins in the 2002 Hollywood Gold Cup (gr. I) and 2000 Wells Fargo Bank California Cup Classic Handicap. When Sky Jack finished racing, the Lamberts retired him to their farm.

Rene died in 2007, and Marjorie continued Ren-Mar. In 2014 Ren-Mar’s homebred Dancingtothestars won the Fran’s Valentine Stakes on the Gold Rush card as well as the Megahertz Stakes earlier in the Santa Anita season. Dancingtothestars, a daughter of Good Journey and a third-generation Ren-Mar homebred, earned $477,372.

Ren-Mar also bred A Lil Dumaani from A Lil

Excess, the dam of Dancingtothestars. A Cal-bred son of Dumaani, A Lil Dumaani ran third in the 2010 Donald Valpredo California Cup Sprint.

The family has asked that any donations be made to United Pegasus Foundation in Tehachapi or the Sweet Water Ranch in Chatsworth, both of which work to adopt racehorses into second homes.

OGDEN MILLS “DINNY” PHIPPS

Ogden Mills “Dinny” Phipps, a leader in the national Thoroughbred racing and breeding industry, died April 6 in New York City after a long illness. He was 75.

The Phipps family has raced Thoroughbreds for generations, and Dinny Phipps continued that tradition. He bred and raced champions Inside Information, Rhythm, Storm Flag Flying, and Smuggler; Breeders’ Cup Distaff (gr. I) winner Pleasant Home; and multiple grade I winner Dispute. With his cousin Stuart Janney III, Phipps won the 2013 Kentucky Derby (gr. I) with Orb.

Phipps served the industry in many capacities, including as chairman of The Jockey Club and the New York Racing Association. At one time he also sat on the board of the Breeders’ Cup and the National Thoroughbred Racing Association.

He was honored with the Eclipse Award of Merit in 1978 and The Jockey Club Medal in 2015. In addition to leading The Jockey Club to many technological innovations, he also was a staunch advocate for eliminating medication in racing.

Phipps is survived by his wife, Andrea; children Kayce, Kelley, Lilly, Daisy, Samantha, and Ogden; and 24 grandchildren. The family requests any donations go to the Grayson-Jockey Club Research Foundation or The Jockey Club Safety Net Foundation.

FOUND MONEY

California-bred Found Money had to be euthanized after injuring himself in a workout April 4 at Santa Anita.

Paul and Zillah Reddam’s Reddam Racing bred and raced Found Money, a 3-year-old son of Square Eddie—Chanel My Belle, by General Meeting. The colt won the 2015 Santa Anita Juvenile Stakes and King Glorious Stakes, and he finished second in the I’m Smokin Stakes and Golden State Juvenile Stakes. He won three of nine races and earned $292,100.

Found Money “was a barn favorite with a big personality, and he will be missed by all,” trainer Doug O’Neill said on Facebook.

KEITH STUCKI

Keith Stucki, trainer of Hall of Fame member and two-time California-bred Horse of the Year Ancient Title, died April 5 in at his home in Bradbury. He was 96.

Though best known for training Ancient Title, Stucki spent his life in racing and at one time galloped Seabiscuit for trainer Tom Smith.

"He lived a full 96 years, believe me," said Shannon Hinkley, Stucki's granddaughter. "He shared the same birthday as John Wayne, May 26, and he was always so proud of that. He met John Wayne on the backside here at Santa Anita many years ago."

Stucki was born in Paris, Idaho, the son of a trainer, and initially wanted to become a jockey. His career took him to Longacres racetrack near Seattle before he moved to Southern California.

William and Ethel Kirkland bred and raced Ancient Title, who won 24 of 57 races, including 20 stakes, and earned $1,252,791. The plucky Cal-bred proved adept at sprint races, but he was able to carry his speed over a distance of ground. He won such two-turn events as the Hollywood Gold Cup (gr. I), Californian (gr. I), and Saratoga's historic Whitney

The California Thoroughbred Breeders Association voted Ancient Title the Cal-bred Horse of the Year in 1974 and 1975. He also earned three consecutive titles as the champion Cal-bred older male.

Stucki is survived by his daughters Gaylord, Golly, and Veronica (Charlie), and several grandchildren, including former World Champion Speedway mo-

FIRST FOAL FOR GERVINHO

A colt out of the Redattore mare Sri's Red became the first foal for the stallion Gervinho when he was born Feb. 8 at Legacy Ranch in Clements. Brackpool Racing bred the colt.

Keith Brackpool owns Gervinho, who stands at Legacy Ranch. The son of Unusual Heat—Foreverinthegame, by Out of Place, won four of nine races, including three stakes, for earnings of $422,140. His biggest victory came in the 2013 Sir Beaufort Stakes (gr. IIT) at Santa Anita.

ALLRED ADDRESSES LOS ALAMITOS' FUTURE

While Los Alamitos' immediate future seems fairly assured, its long-term survival may be in doubt, according Dr. Ed Allred, the owner of Los Alamitos Race Course. In an April 15 letter to "participants and employees," Allred said he plans to run the track for at least 10 more years, but that the property would be unlikely to continue as a racetrack once he is gone.

In the letter, Allred said, "let's plan on 10 years," and added that at that time "reevaluate the status of my health and proceed as indicated." Allred is 79.

The letter also stated that Los Alamitos plans to present a local ballot measure to develop portions of the racetrack and the now-closed Cypress Golf Course, which Allred owns.

Los Alamitos conducts nighttime Quarter Horse racing year-round. Upon the expansion of its track to nearly a mile in 2014, it also became a year-round Thoroughbred stabling facility and now conducts three short Thoroughbred meetings a year.

Allred said he continues to breed 130 Quarter Horse foals each year and that "I love what I'm doing." However, he added, "It is unlikely that upon my passing or serous disability that another group could be found that could acquire the track for racing purposes."

SPOTLIGHTING FOALS OF 2016

With foaling season upon us, now is the time to spotlight your foals in California Thoroughbred. The May through August issues will feature Thoroughbreds foaled in California, with advertorials consisting of six to eight photos of foals per page.

The cost to publish a full-page insertion will be discounted to $500. This represents a reduction of more than 50% off the regular full-page advertisement price. Insertions should include a caption with each foal's sire, dam, broodmare sire, sex, date of birth, and breeders, as well as the details, including a logo, of their farm location.

Photos need to be submitted by the following deadlines: May 9 (June issue), June 6 (July issue), and July 5 (August issue).

For additional information please contact the magazine's Advertising Manager, Loretta Veiga, at Loretta@ctba.com or at 626-445-7800, ext. 227. Additionally, photos can be submitted to Ken Gurnick at kgurnick@ctba.com for free inclusion on the CTBA's website.

CALIFORNIA CHROME

A HIGHLY POLISHED CHROME
SPARKLES LIKE NEW IN DUBAI

MAKING AMENDS

CHROME SHINES IN THE DESERT NIGHT

BY BOB KIECKHEFER

THE “CHROMIES” ASSEMBLED at Meydan for the Dubai World Cup (UAE-I) and those watching from around the world were taken on an emotional roller-coaster ride in a span of only a few minutes.

Tense anticipation as the field gathered.

Hope as Victor Espinoza skillfully maneuvered California Chrome into striking position as the field hit the first turn.

Jubilation as “Chrome” surged to the lead in the stretch and easily won the world’s richest race.

Fear—maybe terror, from some—as Espinoza pulled the champ up on the turn and jumped off. “Oh, my God! What’s wrong?”

Relief as word spread the issue was simply that the saddle had slipped.

Finally, humor as Espinoza described the ride from what trainer Art Sherman described as “the rumble seat.”

But the roller coaster of this year’s World Cup pales in comparison to the year-long dramatic saga endured by California Chrome’s ownership team, which stumbled and collided with obstacle after obstacle through a now “lost” 2015 racing season. From the rubble, however, they regrouped and forged a new quest this year to make their star the world’s highest-earning racehorse.

Wind the clock back to June 2014. California Chrome, modestly bred—by commercial standards—and owned by small-time breeders Steve Coburn and Perry Martin, was well on his way to hitting a jackpot that is a pipe dream to the average owner. He had won the Kentucky Derby Presented by Yum Brands (gr. I), and the Preakness Stakes (gr. I) and was lining up to be the first U.S. Triple crown winner in 37 years.

Famously, the wheels fell off. “Chrome” finished fourth in the Belmont Stakes (gr. I), beaten on the square. He went on to finish sixth in the Pennsylvania Derby (gr. II) and third in a wild Breeders’ Cup Classic (gr. I), won by Bayern.

After a win on the grass in the Hollywood Derby (gr. IT) at Del Mar and a second to Shared Belief in the San Antonio Invitational (gr. I) in January 2015, it was on to Dubai to begin an ambitious international campaign. He ultimately finished second to Prince Bishop in that year’s World Cup, which was disappointing but certainly not embarrassing.

Then the real troubles began.

California Chrome shipped not back to California but to England, where he was to run at Royal Ascot. Didn’t happen. Next, he was to return to the grass for a swing at the Arlington Million XXXIII (gr. IT) in August. Didn’t happen.

Coburn’s interest was sold to Taylor Made Stallions, which took California Chrome to Kentucky for a long rest and some TLC. He would not return to the track for nearly 10 months. When he did resume training, the son of Lucky Pulpit was clearly a different—and much better—horse.

“When we initially bought in, we weren’t sure he was going to run again,” said Taylor Made’s Frank Taylor after the World Cup triumph. “And then we brought him back to Taylor Made and our team did a great job rehabbing him.”

Returned to California and to Sherman’s care, “Chrome” gleamed. He won his comeback race at Santa Anita on Jan. 9 convincingly over Imperative and Hoppertunity in the San Pasqual Stakes (gr. II). And it was back to the Middle East, where history shows it’s a good idea to have a race over the track before the big night.

“Chrome” got the prep race over the

CAL-BRED CALIFORNIA CHROME WINS 2016 DUBAI WORLD CUP AFTER FINISHING SECOND LAST YEAR

Meydan dirt in the Trans Gulf Electromechanical Trophy, the same program Curlin used to prepare for the World Cup he won in 2008.

Despite his victory in that prep race, the doubters continued to do what they do—doubt. California Chrome didn't beat much. He'd been idle too long. He seemed to be getting too hot during his morning trackwork. Yadda, yadda, yadda. Some experts didn't even see California Chrome finishing in the top three in the big race.

Sherman and Espinoza were unfazed. As the days rolled by, they proclaimed California Chrome better than ever.

Then came the barrier draw.

From year to year, the good folks at the Dubai Racing Club switch up the system for assigning post positions. This year, the name of each horse was inscribed on a card and the deck was mixed inside an Arabian urn center stage at the Meydan Theater. As an Emirates Airline flight attendant drew the names, one by one, the owner or trainer strolled onto stage, accepted a placard with the horse's name, and chose from the remaining gates.

Eventually there were but two names left in the urn and one of them was California Chrome. The remaining gates—11 and 12, in a 12-horse field that would compete on a track that had been favoring inside speed for months.

The penultimate draw was "Chrome." Sherman hung the placard at gate No. 11 and commented, "The outside is good. If you have the horse." Espinoza said he was okay with the draw. What else was he going to say?

Finally the day dawned, clear and warm. A fashionably dressed crowd inched through the metal detectors.

California Chrome went into the gate without a problem and they were off. Only, Espinoza was more "off" than the other 11 riders.

"I wanted to bounce out of there and come out running and get a position right away," Espinoza said. "But he broke not really quick and the second jump, he accelerates and at that point I feel the saddle start slipping backward. And I was like, 'Oh oh!'

"Basically, the girth slipped all the way back and I was really trying not to move my body, just to sit there still and lean forward a little bit because if I move a little back, I might go out of balance and that would not be pretty. I was not really concerned about it. I was just looking forward, 'Where's the wire?'"

Espinoza earned his money with that ride. Hitting the first turn quickly, he had California Chrome up near the leaders, just four-wide. He basically held that position down the backstretch and, when he confidently asked for more, "Chrome" had plenty to give. In seconds, it was over.

Sherman, a former jockey, appreciated what had happened.

"When the saddle slips, it makes you move backward on the horse and balance...I didn't realize it until he pulled up and I said, 'That thing's back in the rumble seat!'"

All's well when it ends well.

Now the quest is to use the rest of 2016 to make California Chrome the highest-earning horse in history. Even with the Pacific Classic (gr. I) and Breeders' Cup Classic on the agenda, it is a steep climb to the No. 1 spot on the worldwide lists. "Chrome," however, has secured his place as the leading earner among North American-based runners with $12,532,650. He has earned $2,030,850 more than the previous leader, Curlin.

Regardless of how the rest of the year unfolds, California Chrome always will be No. 1 in the hearts of his fans, the Chromies.

"The horse has a lot of personality and people pick up on that," Martin said. "We get Christmas cards, Easter cards, you name it—so many that we can't respond to all of them. So there's a lot of fans out there."

And, speaking for his team, Frank Taylor added: "Great horses make you look great and he's one of those."

CHROME REFLECTIONS

THE ART OF TRAINING A CHAMPION

BY TRACY GANTZ

ART SHERMAN, HIS SON ALAN, AND THE ENTIRE TEAM at the trainer's barn have played an integral role in California Chrome's success. Appreciated by horsemen and fans alike, Sherman always takes the time to talk about his celebrated charge.

Not long after his return from Dubai, Sherman reflected on the impact the horse and his accomplishments have had on his life, as well as the future for California Chrome.

■ On sending California Chrome to Dubai earlier this year and having a prep race: "After being there the first time and watching everybody train, I thought maybe it wasn't long enough (last year), even though it was two weeks before he ran. This year he only had one race, at Santa Anita, and I knew it would be easy to get another race into him, which would be beneficial for the Dubai World Cup (UAE-1). That mile and a quarter prep that I had laid out for him was what I needed."

■ On California Chrome winning the prep with 132 pounds: "Carrying 132 pounds was like the old days, with Kelso and Forego. The way it turned out, it was the perfect prep. He won under wraps, I didn't have to use him much, and he came back good. It was the perfect thing to have a mile and a quarter over the track. It was just what I wanted."

■ On California Chrome's popularity: "They had a big party for him at the barn, and you cannot believe the people. They call themselves Chromies. Forty of them came to Schwanie's restaurant there at Los Alamitos. They had a cake and gave me an engraved wine decanter. I was so touched. They brought something for everybody at the barn. It was awfully nice. They just appreciate the horse and love him. They all had Chromie shirts on and hats. From all over the world, I get cards. And they send him cookies. Every time I turn around I get cookies. All of the horses at the barn get them. It's pretty nice."

■ On future racing plans: "We hope to go to the Pacific Classic (gr. I) and then the Breeders' Cup. If Beholder and Chrome ran in the Pacific Classic, it would be standing room only. And to win the Breeders' Cup Classic (gr. I) would be phenomenal."

■ On California Chrome as a 5-year-old: "He's getting a little stronger, more relaxed. He's gotten easier to do things with. He's a good shipper. Other horses just can't get on an airplane and do what he does. He flies all over the world, comes off the airplane in good shape, wanting to play. He's a phenomenal horse. You show him the airplane, and he's ready. That's the strongest horses will ever be, as a 5-year-old. And you can tell by looking at him—he's so muscled up. He turned out to be just a stunning horse. It's a pleasure to have him in the barn."

CTF a Beneficiary of Walk of Champions Gala

The California Thoroughbred Foundation will be one of the beneficiaries of the Arcadia Historical Society's Thoroughbred Racing Walk of Champions Gala May 24 titled "A Fund-Raising Salute to the Red & Black." Named in honor of the famed red and black Maltese cross emblazoned on Elias J. "Lucky" Baldwin's racing silks, the gala will be held from 5:30-9 p.m. at the Los Angeles Country Arboretum & Botanic Gardens near the historic Queen Anne's Cottage and Carriage barn of the famed founder of the original Santa Anita Park.

Born in 1828, Lucky Baldwin embodied the American wild West. Equal parts scoundrel and entrepreneur, he ventured to California in pursuit of gold. A mining investment tanked, and Baldwin left for Japan and India with strict instructions for the shares to be sold once they returned to the price he paid. However, Baldwin neglected to leave the key to the safe holding the shares, and when he returned, the shares had skyrocketed in value, making him one of the richest men in California.

In the early 1870s he came to the San Gabriel Valley and announced: "I'm going to buy this country." It was the perfect spot to raise cattle and Baldwin's other passion, racehorses. He bought Rancho Santa Anita in 1875.

Ultimately, Baldwin became the largest landowner in Southern California with more than 63,000 acres—most of the entire San Gabriel Valley from what is now Pasadena to Monrovia. He incorporated the city of Arcadia, which was located in the heart of his property holdings, and served as the town's first mayor.

Baldwin's best runner was Emperor of Norfolk, who was foaled in 1885. The winner of 21 of 29 starts, Emperor of Norfolk was considered to be the finest California-based runner until Swaps made his mark nearly 70 years later. Emperor of Norfolk was elected to the National Racing Museum's Hall of Fame in 1988.

The Red and Black Gala will also benefit the Arcadia Historical Society, Winner's Foundation, and California Thoroughbred Horsemen's Foundation, and salute the 2015 and 2016 inductees to the Walk of Champions: Zenyatta, Lava Man, Chris McCarron, Gary Jones, Ron McAnally, Mike Mitchell, Mel Stute, Buddy Johnston's Old English Rancho, and Joe Burnham. Triple Crown-winning jockey Victor Espinoza will be given a special recognition at the dinner.

SPRING CELEBRATION

A MEMORIAL DAY SALUTE TO CAL-BRED/SIRED PROGRAM

BY EMILY SHIELDS

As part of the Golden State's ever evolving racing landscape, California Gold Rush has not only survived but flourished.

The five-race event for California bred and California-sired runners was moved in 2015 from late April to Memorial Day weekend, which is an important weekend in the sport with a host of major stakes across the country. The move was designed to increase participation in the series and produce more handle, both of which proved successful.

"There were significant increases last year with field size and handle," said Doug Burge, president of the California Thoroughbred Breeders Association. "The previous April date for the event was too close to California Cup, and the additional month and a half allowed for more of the Cal Cup participants to also run on Gold Rush Day."

California Cup/Sunshine Millions is another five-race event that is worth more than $1 million to Cal-breds. The Gold Rush stakes total $775,000, with the entire card's purses topping $1 million. The day will include maiden and condition races restricted to horses bred in the Golden State or sired by California stallions.

Introducing one of California's biggest race days to Memorial Day weekend also put the spotlight on hard-knocking horses sometimes overshadowed by other stars.

"Moving to Memorial Day weekend definitely helps with attendance as well," Burge said, "and the million dollar-plus in purses that are offered to Cal-breds gets more exposure both in state and across the country. The stakes offered on the day also fill a void in the Santa Anita stakes schedules and provide for a big three-day weekend of racing."

The five stakes are the $200,000 Snow Chief Stakes, $200,000 Melair Stakes, $150,000 Tiznow Stakes, $125,000 Fran's Valentine Stakes, and $100,000 Lennyfromalibu Stakes. The latter, run at about 6½ furlongs down the hillside turf course, replaced the $100,000 Spring Fever Handicap, a six-furlong dirt contest for older distaffers that was previously part of the card. The Spring Fever will now be run July 4, along with another Cal-bred stakes, the $100,000 Thor's Echo Stakes, at six furlongs for 3-year-olds and up.

"The date for the Lennyfromalibu was swapped with the Spring Fever to coincide with the turf renovation, as we wanted to keep the downhill race during the meet," Burge explained.

Santa Anita will be replacing its turf course starting on June 20, which means there will be no grass racing for the final two weeks of the spring/summer meeting. The unique and popular downhill turf course will close even earlier, on June 6.

Some of the best Cal-breds in recent memory have won on Gold Rush day.

The Snow Chief Stakes is named after the brilliant Cal-bred Eclipse Award winner who won the Preakness Stakes (gr. I) and earned $3,383,210. The race was run on the main track until 2013, when it switched to 1½ miles on Santa Anita's grass course. Winners include graded stakes heroes Grey Memo (an earner of $1,736,683), Compari, and Alphia's Bet.

The 1½-mile Melair Stakes was won by grade I winner Willa B Awesome in 2012, when the race was carded at 1½ miles. Eight years earlier three-time grade II winner Yearly Report found the wire first in the race. Yearly Report went on to produce grade I winner Condo Commando.

Melair was undefeated in five starts in 1986, and she beat Snow Chief and other males in the $200,000 Silver Screen Handicap (gr. II). The brilliant roan filly was retired after two serious bouts of colic, including one that almost took her life.

The Tiznow Stakes over a mile was run at 7½ furlongs until 2012. The race is named for two-time Breeders' Cup Classic (gr. I) winner Tiznow, who has gone on to be an exceptional sire in Kentucky. The Tiznow Stakes features possibly the best winners in Gold Rush history, including Breeders' Cup Sprint (gr. I) and Eclipse Award winner Amazombie, grade I-winning sprinter Greg's Gold, and the wickedly fast Joey Franco, who was California's Horse of the Year in 2003.

The Fran's Valentine Stakes is run at a mile on the grass and has played host to winners such as grade I heroine Nashoba's Key and graded stakes winners Moscow Burning, Halo Dolly, and Supercilious. Fran's Valentine was best known for finishing first in the inaugural Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies (gr. I) but was disqualified for interference and placed 10th. She went on to win the Kentucky Oaks (gr. I) among her three grade I victories.

The Lennyfromalibu is new for 2016 and is named after the multiple stakes winner Lennyfromalibu, a popular chestnut out of the Madeline Auerbach barn. Lennyfromalibu earned $442,165 with six wins in 21 starts, including the 2003 California Cup Mile Handicap by two widening lengths at shocking 25-1 odds. The son of Unusual Heat not only set a track record at Santa Anita, but launched the stud career of his invaluable sire, who went on to be the state's leading stallion six consecutive times.

The Gold Rush, which debuted in 2000 at Hollywood Park, has become an anchor for the popular Golden State Series races, which include stakes races in Northern California as well. The $100,000 Silky Sullivan Stakes and Campanile Stakes at Golden Gate Fields were run in June until 2015, when they moved earlier in the calendar so that the runners in those races could contest Gold Rush as well. Those two races will be run May 1 as part of the Cal-bred Turf Extravaganza. The entire Golden State Series is worth $5,425,000.

"It is the spring celebration of California breeding, and is extremely important to the overall Golden State Series," Burge said. "In California, we are fortunate to have more than one million-dollar day highlighting the state-bred program, and this has helped further increase the demand and value of Cal-breds."

"The Golden State Series has had a large impact on the increases realized recently, with the live foal crop and number of mares bred in the state. Gold Rush day is a major part of the overall stakes program." CTB

GOLDEN PROMOTER

BY JACK SHINAR

For nearly 40 years Bay Area sports fans have turned to Golden Gate Fields' Sam Spear for all the latest news on the local racing scene.

Wondering about the latest stars for Racing Hall of Fame members such as trainer Jerry Hollendorfer or jockey Russell Baze, or where current equine champions such as California Chrome and Nyquist are likely to turn up next? Chances are Spear will have the answers. For fans and newsmen alike, the lifetime Bay Area native is the go-to source as Golden Gate Fields celebrates its 75th anniversary season in 2016.

“Sam is a very good friend,” said Glenn Dickey, the author and former longtime San Francisco Chronicle sports columnist. “I first met him at spring training in the early ‘70s, and we’ve been friends ever since. When I was going to the racetrack, he always found interesting guys for me to interview.”

With his cherubic face and gravelly voice, Spear is probably the most recognizable—some would say legendary—local racing personality in the game today, regaling the San Francisco region with tales from the track on his long-running television and radio programs.

How well known? The story goes that he once drove his car into a gas station with friend Joe DiMaggio seated next to him in the passenger seat. The attendant ran up excitedly, tapped on the window, and asked for an autograph—from Spear.

Spear, 67, is director of media relations at Golden Gate Fields, operating alongside publicity manager Jon Forbes from a glass-walled office in the press box that peeks out over the finish line from the track's administrative suites. It provides Spear with not only a bird's-eye view of the picturesque bayside track layout, but also the never-ending snarl of traffic that crawls along Interstate 80 between the cities of Albany and Berkeley.

“I grew up in Alameda; I spent my first 29 years there,” said Spear, who now lives in the Contra Costa County city of Danville with his longtime partner, Barbara O'Neill.

By all accounts he has been a sports nut ever since he was a youngster.

Spear's celebrity all began somewhat accidentally in the mid-1970s. While working at the time in publicity for the San Francisco Giants, he started his own sports program over a San Jose radio station. Though he knew next to nothing about racing then, he would often include news segments and interviews from the local tracks in addition to the usual coverage of baseball, basketball, and football.

The Golden Gate publicity director at the time, Ron Supinski, was impressed. In January 1977 he asked Spear to work

NEARLY 40 YEARS IN, SAM SPEAR IS GOING FOR THE GOLD

Sam Spear has been a fixture on the Golden Gate Fields racing scene for nearly 40 years for him promoting horse racing on radio and television.

“He would have me come up with feature ideas (from the track) and appear on radio shows to talk about racing. I also did race re-creations,” Spear said, providing listeners with race results. His success led to a similar position at Bay Meadows, which in those days raced from July through December.

Things escalated rapidly from there.

“I decided that we really needed to be on television,” Spear said. “At the time there were only six or seven main channels, but they were also adding some independent channels. There was a new channel that had been on for a couple of months, channel 26, KTSE. I saw their name and address in TV Guide, so I went ahead and bought a half-hour.”

Though the station was primarily aimed at an Asian audience, the race recap program, airing each day at 5 p.m., found a strong viewer base reaching into the millions. The format was basic, Spear narrating live from a stool while the camera panned the track program for each race on the card, followed by the replay and payoffs.

For many years he was in that 30-minute time slot seven days a week, filling in the non-racing days at Golden Gate and Bay Meadows with harness and Quarter Horse coverage, and feature stories.

“We did all kinds of things, things like how you shoe a horse,” said Spear. “It was all new to me, so it was fresh.”

Not only did Spear produce the program but he was also responsible for creating the advertising spots and, most importantly, seeing that the tape of the day’s races got to the station in time to air.

“I have no plans for retirement. I enjoy what I’m doing, and so long as we keep racing and keep going, there’s nothing else I’d rather be doing.”

Among the many friends Sam Spear, center, has made in his years of broadcasting racing news are jockey legends John Longden, left, and Bill Shoemaker

“I would get into my car and drive to the TV station. At the time they didn’t have a real TV station, just a studio, and they were up where their tower was, on the top of Mt. San Bruno. So I would drive over there and go on the air live. I did that for quite a few years, which you would never be able to do today because of the traffic.”

After thousands of miles spent making that trip each day, Spear recalled, “Fortunately, they decided that I could stay on the air there if I could do the show at the track. So what I did was get involved with a microwave, and the show would be sent via the microwave to the station.”

With the cutback in race days in recent years and the loss of some of his sponsors, “Today at the Races,” in its 38th year, now airs on weekends only.

Over the years the program has allowed Spear to follow important horses all around the country to provide news reports. That includes hip-hop superstar M.C. Hammer’s 1991 Kentucky Oaks (gr. I) winner Lite Light, 1992 Kentucky Derby (gr. I) runner-up Casual Lies, and champion sprinter Lost in the Fog.

He coordinated trips to take viewers to visit international racing venues, such as Australia for the Melbourne Cup, Ireland for the Irish Derby, France’s Chantilly racecourse, and three visits to Hong Kong. He has attended Breeders’ Cup days all over North America.

And he’s had the chance to interview and befriend people such as actors John Forsythe and Jack Klugman (who bred and raced Thoroughbreds in California for many years) as well as Mickey Rooney and Telly Savalas; baseball luminaries such as DiMaggio, Earl Weaver, and Stan Musial; and the legendary California Golden Bears college basketball coach Pete Newell. He’s had the chance to hang out with many important racing personalities—John Longden, Bill Shoemaker, Steve Cauthen, Laffit Pincay Jr. and Lester Piggott among them.

Not bad for a sports-crazy guy who had no knowledge of horse racing or television when he started, but who wasn’t going to let that stand in the way of pursuing his dreams.

“Anyway, through this little 30-minute TV show on horse racing, I’ve seen the world,” Spear said. “I’ve been very fortunate.”

In addition to the television program, Spear hosts a one-hour Sunday radio program over powerful station KNBR. Currently airing at 6 a.m., the show features phone interview segments from racing people as well as hand-capping insight from experts at tracks all over the country. He’s been doing that show 52 weeks a year since about 1990.

The show got a major boost in listenership a couple of years ago with regular updates from trainer Art Sherman on Kentucky Derby Presented by Yum! Brands and Preakness Stakes (both gr. I) winner California Chrome as the California-bred colt made his assault on the Triple Crown. Spear hoped for a similar bump this year from Florida Derby (gr. I) winner Nyquist and trainer Doug O'Neill, whom he got to know because O'Neill often ships horses to Golden Gate from his Santa Anita stable.

"I really learned about television on the job, and the same thing with radio," Spear noted. "I'm very fortunate to be on a high-powered station like KNBR.

"Two years ago, because Art was a trainer here for many years and I knew him very well, we had him on the show every week beginning in February. And so every week we'd get an update on California Chrome. And fortunately, everything kept going. So it turned out to be quite a deal because you'd get a report on where he's training and where he's going next, how he's doing. Then all of a sudden you've got the prep for the Santa Anita Derby (gr. I), then the Santa Anita Derby. Now he's going to the Kentucky Derby, and every week Art would be on."

Spear's media visibility and regular appearances in the newspaper columns of the day such as Dickey's not only kept racing in the news at a time when competition for attention was increasing but also helped cement his place as the sport's spokesman.

Forbes, who now works with Spear after replacing Tom Ferrell in 2015, remembers watching Spear on TV as a toddler.

"I grew up in a household in which my father was really into racing, so we watched that show practically every night," said Forbes, now 30.

Forbes describes his own role in the publicity office as taking care of "the nuts-and bolts type stuff"—press releases, stakes race quotes and recaps, the house handicap and statistics, and social media tasks.

"I think we have complementary skill sets," Forbes said. "Sam's been around a long time, and he's got a lot of contacts. He's great at getting coverage."

Ferrell, who worked with Spear for more than 25 years before relocating to Southern California, agrees.

"Nobody has done more to promote horse racing in Northern California over the years than Sam," Ferrell said. "I know he's had to fight like hell to keep his TV show going, and it's one of the last recap shows in the country. He's a fighter, though, and resilient. He knows how to make reporters feel welcome and how to help them do their jobs. You have to watch him, though. He'll deliver a few zingers. He's got a little Don Rickles in him."

Larry Stumes, who was covering racing for the Chronicle when Spear arrived on the scene, and still does, calls Spear "a throwback" to an earlier time, a man who works every single day to promote horse racing.

"I haven't always agreed with him, but I have to say that everything he's done since the day he got here was to benefit horse racing," Stumes said. "He's also one of the most fun people I've ever been around. He's got an opinion about everything."

Comparing today's racing scene to how it was 30 years ago, Spear says the hardest things for him to get used to are the consolidation and elimination of newspapers, which has pretty much emptied out his press box, and poor on-track attendance. He notes that competition for decreasing newspaper space, with new sports and the additional coverage given to women's sports, makes it all the more difficult for racing to maintain a presence.

"We're always looking for a good story, and we get very good coverage in the Chronicle with our stakes races," he said. "When I first started, we had a stakes race every Saturday. So that's definitely different. But there are things that happen, like California Chrome, like Lost in the Fog, that generate publicity.

"When California Chrome started his campaign, I treated it like he was a local horse because of Art Sherman, who was here 40 years as a jockey and a trainer. So we got as much coverage of California Chrome as they got in Southern California. Whenever something gets hot, I try to make the most of it.

"When I first came here, we averaged more than 10,000 people on Fridays. And then it was 17,000 (to) 22,000 on the weekends, but 10,000 people here just on Fridays. But then came simulcasting and now the Internet. It's very difficult if you try to explain to somebody who doesn't understand why there isn't anybody here.

"The one thing I've had to adjust to is the lack of energy if you walk through the plant on a day like (a Thursday), the lack of a buzz. So you have to understand that if you borrowed $50 from someone and he's looking for you, there's nowhere to hide out."

Still, Spear looks forward to every day at the track because he never knows what might happen.

"I have no plans for retirement. I enjoy what I'm doing, and so long as we keep racing and keep going, there's nothing else I'd rather be doing. I kind of look at it like each day is a different challenge." CTB

TOUGH CAL-BREDS

SHINING IN THE SLOP

BY TRACY GANTZ

Santa Anita took a break between meetings during April, but before the action segued to Los Alamitos, several California-breds performed with aplomb.

On Santa Anita Derby (gr. I) day, April 9, Cal-breds demonstrated their value to the crowd. Pacific Heat and Tough It Out captured the Golden State Series events, while What a View added still another graded victory in the grade III Thunder Road Stakes (see page 34). Two weeks previously, Sheer Pleasure put another trophy on her mantel by winning the Dreaming of Summer Stakes.

Pacific Heat's Evening Jewel victory brings a ray of sunshine to her connections under the lowering clouds above the Santa Anita winner's circle

The jewel of the Pacific: Pacific Heat remains perfect among Cal-bred competition with a sparkling victory in the Evening Jewel Stakes at Santa Anita

PACIFIC HEAT'S EVENING JEWEL STAKES

Pacific Heat ran her record to a perfect four-for-four against Cal-breds and California-sired competition in the $200,000 Evening Jewel Stakes. Co-owner Joe Ciaglia has liked her since he picked her out at a Barretts sale with trainer Peter Eurton and bloodstock agent Larry Zap, and she continues to live up to her promise.

"She won at Del Mar, she won on the grass, she won on the dirt, she won short, she won long," said Ciaglia. "It's been some fun—she's very versatile."

Eight 3-year-old fillies challenged Pacific Heat in the 6½-furlong Evening Jewel, but bettors knew where to put their money. They sent her off as the 6-5 favorite.

In the slop, Pacific Heat had the advantage of liking to be on or near the lead early. She came out of the gate well, grabbed a short lead, and then sat in second briefly when longshot Later My Love scooted past.

Jockey Flavien Prat let Pacific Heat range up on the outside of Later My Love and from that point on controlled the race. Second-choice Be a Lady stayed with Pacific Heat till early in the stretch, and then the closers tried to test her.

Despite Run for Retts and Roo's Valentine cutting into Pacific Heat's lead a bit, the result wasn't in doubt. Pacific Heat scored by 1¼ lengths in 1:17.38, with Run for Retts a neck ahead of Roo's Valentine for second. Be a Lady hung on for fourth.

"She wasn't really comfortable on this sloppy track today," said Prat. "But she has so much talent that it didn't even matter. Her talent made all the difference."

Ciaglia owns Pacific Heat with Sharon Alesia, Mike Burns, and Taylor Legan. As Ciaglia stood next to Zap in the winner's circle, the two brought up an intriguing possible goal.

"How about this—we wait two months and we go to the Acorn (gr. I)," said Zap. "Before Del Mar starts and we have to go back to turf, wouldn't it be a nice possibility?"

Belmont Park offers the one-turn dirt mile Acorn on June 11, the day of the Belmont Stakes (gr. I). It's a $700,000 event that will likely attract a host of top-flight 3-year-old fillies.

Ciaglia, Eurton, and Zap selected Pacific Heat for $175,000 out of the 2014 Barretts October sale. John Harris' Harris Farms and Don Valpredo bred the daughter of Unusual Heat—Hotlantic, by Stormy Atlantic. Her exploits last year earned her the title of champion Cal-bred 2-year-old filly, and she could be on her way to another championship.

TOUGH IT OUT'S ECHO EDDIE STAKES

While Pacific Heat is no stranger to the winner's circle after a stakes, Tough It Out was still looking for his first added-money victory. He had placed in stakes twice, finishing third in last year's King Glorious Stakes and second in the Jan. 30 California Cup Derby.

Tough It Out brought excellent connections to the $200,345 Echo Eddie Stakes. Nick Alexander, whose breeding program has put his name high on the California leading breeder list, bred and owns Tough It Out. His trainer, Phil D'Amato, had already clinched his first Santa Anita training title and ended up with 41 winners, seven more than second-place Doug O'Neill. When Tough It Out captured the Echo Eddie, it gave D'Amato his eighth stakes victory of the meeting to lead in that category as well.

Nick Alexander's Cal homebred Tough It Out does just that with a 4½-length win in the Echo Eddie Stakes in less than ideal conditions

Another "tough" horse, Tough But Nice, went favored in the 6½-furlong Echo Eddie, with Tough It Out the third choice under jockey Joe Talamo.

Brandothbartender and Tough But Nice vied for the early lead. The favorite had to withstand some bumping from Brandothbartender, according to his jockey, Fernando Perez.

"He bumped me so hard on the backside," said Perez. "He was four wide, and he's still bumping me, so that took everything away from my horse (who ultimately finished seventh)."

It also let Gary Stevens sneak through on the rail with Gold Rush Dancer, giving them a clear lead into the stretch.

Talamo stayed well back and wide early.

Even bad weather conditions can't keep the smiles off the faces of Echo Eddie winner Tough It Out's entourage

Thus, Tough It Out had a clear path to run down Gold Rush Dancer in the stretch. He drew away to win by 4½ lengths in 1:17.60. Xingontothetone finished third.

Alexander couldn't be at Santa Anita because another of his good Cal-breds, multiple stakes winner Sunday Rules, competed at Keeneland in the Madison Stakes (gr. I), setting the pace early before finishing unplaced. Alexander produced Tough It Out by breeding his stallion Grazen to the Marquetry mare Mark Set Go.

"I know Grazen could run on anything, and he is out of a Marquetry mare," said D'Amato, "so his pedigree suggested he would like the slop. He sure did."

D'Amato said that conditions caused Tough It Out to be "a victim of circumstances" earlier because the only spot D'Amato had to run him in March was against older horses.

"But he found his 3-year-old company again against Cal-breds, and he proved best today," said the trainer.

Tough It Out was winning his second race in eight starts. He has finished second once and third twice and has now earned $212,790.

SHEER PLEASURE'S DREAM OF SUMMER STAKES

Easter Sunday may send children in search of chocolate and eggs, but it sent Sheer Pleasure in search of still another stakes victory. The 4-year-old filly faced eight other older fillies and mares in the $101,380 Dream of Summer Stakes March 27 and came away with the trophy, also for D'Amato.

The large and enthusiastic Little Red Feather Racing partnership owns Sheer Pleasure with Ron McMackin and John Ransom's R/M Racing.

"We had horses in training with Mike Mitchell and Phil D'Amato," said John Ransom. "Phil called me one day and said he had this horse Sheer Pleasure, and so we bought half of her. We've liked the couple of horses on the second turn, with only Swissarella in front of her in the stretch.

"Martin got good position on the first turn," said D'Amato. "That's what won the race."

Sheer Pleasure caught Swissarella and then held off the fast-closing Kiss At Midnight to win by a half-length in 1:36.82. Swissarella saved the third spot over Singing Kitty.

"We've had a lot of fun with her—she's done really well," said Ransom. "We got pretty ambitious with her last year. We ran against (champion) Stellar Wind."

Billy Koch, founder of Little Red Feather, said he felt Sheer Pleasure does better around two turns.

"She has enough tactical speed to stay close," he said. "She lost a lot of ground today but ran a really good race. I'm just so proud of her, and I'm so happy for our partners."

Little Red Feather purchased Sheer Pleasure privately early in her 2-year-old season. Madera Thoroughbreds bred the daughter of Birdonthewire—Kathryns Birthday, by Blare of Trumpets.

partnership, so we've done two or three other things together."

Little Red Feather and R/M also own Kentucky-breds Riri and Bellamentary, but it's the Cal-bred who has taken them to the winner's circle most often.

Sheer Pleasure went off at 4-1 in against the likes of stakes winner Kiss At Midnight, the 2-1 favorite, and multiple stakes winner Singing Kitty.

"She has a lot of speed; you can put her wherever you want to," said jockey Martin Garcia of Sheer Pleasure.

Garcia chose to sit in midpack behind Swissarella's early pace. Sheer Pleasure's outside post left her a little wide on the first turn of the one-mile dirt race. She was easily in the clear to come around a

THE SAINT AND THE SINNER

BY TRACY GANTZ

The Southern California racing calendar shaped up differently for 2016, as Los Alamitos opened during April instead of July, breaking up the long Santa Anita stand. That didn't faze California-breds, who handled the switch by capturing both stakes April 16, the first Saturday of Los Alamitos' April 14-May 1 meeting.

The Bertrando Stakes is part of the Golden State Stakes series for Cal-breds and California-sired runners. Los Alamitos also conducted the grade III Los Angeles Stakes for the first time, and it attracted several Cal-breds. The result? Victories for San Onofre in the $100,000 Los Angeles and Boozer in the $100,345 Bertrando.

Top, Cal-bred San Onofre wins the grade III Los Angeles Stakes at Los Al to the delight of trainer Karen Headley and jockey Edwin Maldonado, above

SAN ONOFRE'S LOS ANGELES STAKES

San Onofre has given his trainer, Karen Headley, fits with his attitude. When he wanted to show off, he could, as his victory in the Jan. 2 Midnight Lute Stakes (gr. III) at Santa Anita demonstrated. But then he regressed, finishing fourth in the California Cup Sprint Stakes and last in the San Carlos Stakes (gr. II).

"We put blinkers on him because he didn't pay attention last time and he finished dead last," Headley said. "We wanted him focused. He's getting easier to train."

With blinkers in the Los Angeles, San Onofre sat off the early pace of Sir Kip and Yiannis. He had to go four wide to make his move in Los Alamitos' long stretch, but he responded to the urging of jockey Edwin Maldonado.

San Onofre needed the response to hold off the closing charge of favored Wild Dude. San Onofre succeeded by a length, stopping the clock in 1:02.04 for the 5½ furlongs. Wild Dude finished second, a half-length ahead of Cal-bred Raised a Secret.

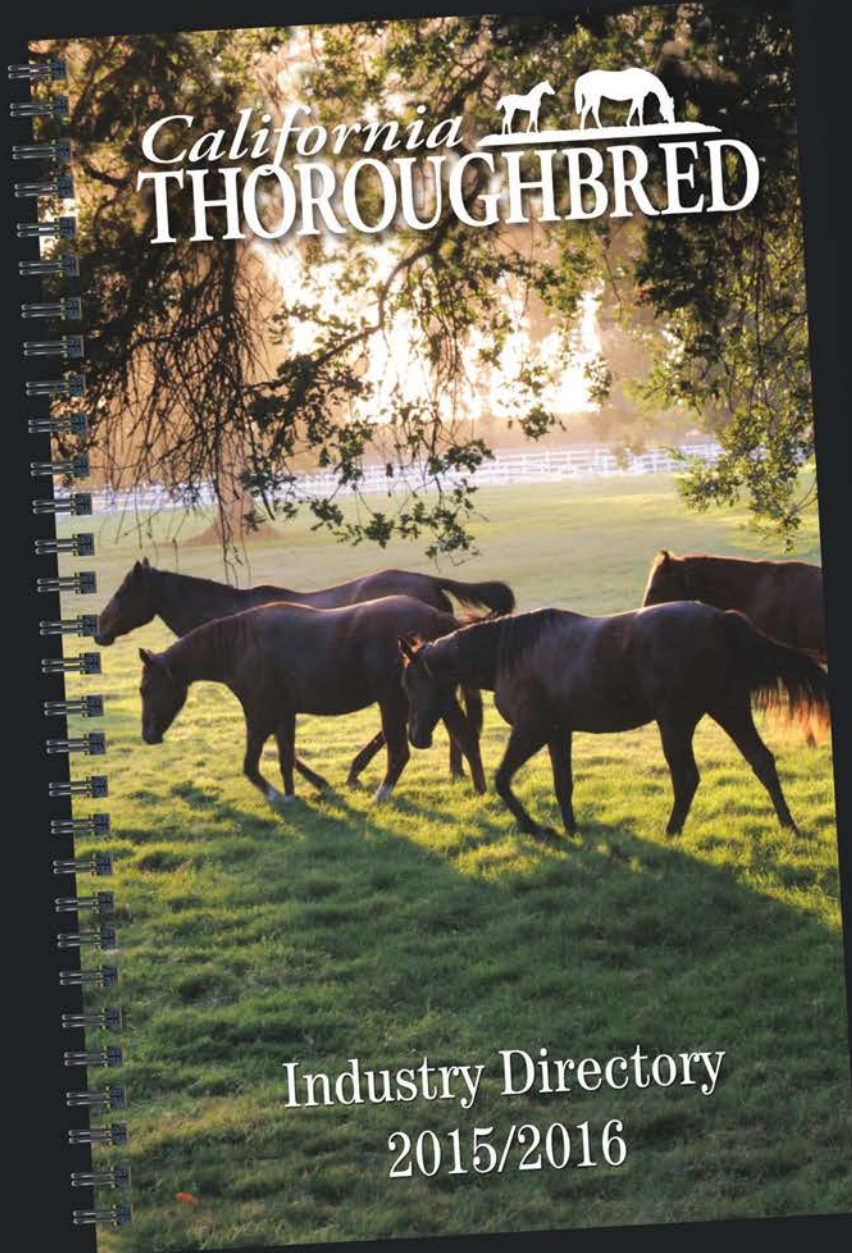

Maldonado was winning his fourth consecutive Los Angeles, even more significant because he accomplished the feat at three different tracks—on Comma to the Top at Hollywood Park, Cyclometer and Distinctiv Passion at Santa Anita, and now San Onofre at Los Alamitos.

Hollywood Park scheduled a 1¼-mile race called the Los Angeles in 1938 and 1939, and re-established it as a sprint race in 1955. It varied from six to seven furlongs there until Hollywood closed. Santa Anita carded it twice as a six-furlong event in 2014-15.

The Headley family has also done well in the Los Angeles. Karen's father, Bruce, trained Cal-bred Cyclometer, having bred and owned him in partnership. Bruce also trained Los Angeles winners Street Boss in 2008, sprint champion Kona Gold in 2002, and Son of a Pistol in 1999.

San Onofre races for Karen's mother, Aase, in the name of Matson Racing.

Cal-breds at Los Alamitos

Bruce bred the 6-year-old gelding from two horses he trained. Aase and Marsha Naify owned Surf Cat, a multiple stakes winner and San Onofre's sire. His dam, the Native Regent mare Marrakech Gold, injured herself after only two starts.

Karen explained that her father, following years of selecting horses in Kentucky with the physical bodies he felt makes a good racehorse, is now breeding those individuals himself in California. The process works.

San Onofre is Surf Cat's first stakes winner. A son of Sir Cat—Trust Greta, by Centrust, Surf Cat earned $1,045,420 and stands at Old English Rancho in Sanger.

San Onofre, who finished second by a neck in the 2015 Los Angeles, was winning his sixth race in 13 starts. He raised his lifetime earnings to $402,385.

BOOZER'S BERTRANDO STAKES

Maldonado scored a stakes double when he also piloted Boozer in the one-mile Bertrando. Gary Stevens regularly rides the 6-year-old Cal-bred son of Unusual Heat—Kitty and Boo, by Cape Canaveral, but he was at Keeneland that day.

"I won with him going short when he was a 3-year-old," said Maldonado.

Boozer and Maldonado performed as if they had never been separated. Boozer raced in second early behind pacesetter Avanti Bello. Soi Phet, the 2014 Bertrando victor, stayed within striking distance in third, outside of the first two horses.

Boozer ranged up outside of Avanti Bello as they turned into the stretch. Soi Phet tried to catch Boozer, but Boozer held him off and won by a half-length in 1:34.73. Soi Phet had four lengths on third-place Avanti Bello.

"The trip worked out exactly the way we planned," said Maldonado. "He was very comfortable the whole way."

Mark Glatt trains Boozer for owners Al and Sandra Kirkwood, who live in Washington state. They weren't able to come down for the Bertrando, though they did see Boozer win the Feb. 27 Sensational Star Stakes at Santa Anita. They have said that Boozer is a particular favorite of theirs.

Glatt admitted that the stretch run made him a little nervous when Soi Phet came on, "but he's a gamer."

Boozer usually runs on the turf.

"Gary Stevens has worked him for me numerous times, and he said if the opportunity comes up, don't hesitate running this horse on dirt," said Glatt. "This adds another dimension and gives us other options with him."

Though Unusual Heat continually leads the California turf earnings sire list, he gets more than his share of dirt runners to lead or rank high on the overall California sire list as well. Madeline Auerbach bred Boozer in partnership with Barry Abrams, Vincenzo Lovero, Chris Perez, and Huston Racing.

The Kirkwoods bought Boozer privately after he broke his maiden. He has won seven of 22 starts for earnings of $538,792. CTB

A GOOD FIT

A TRAINING CAREER IN THE BLACK

BY GENE WILLIAMS

Though it took him nearly 40 years in the business, Kenny Black now ranks as an overnight sensation with his immense success as the trainer of multiple stakes winner What a View and a barnful of other Old English Rancho California-breds.

That could be a bit of stretch, but not out of bounds for the 52-year-old trainer whose history shows something of a hit-and-miss career as a jockey and an off-and-on run at being a trainer. His two years with the late E.W. (Buddy) Johnston's racing operation, which includes partnerships as well as single ownership by Old English Rancho, have vaulted him into a more prominent place in the business.

Black is a happy man these days. Though Johnston is no longer around, his spirit rests with the trainer day in and day out.

After What a View's victory in Santa Anita's Frank E. Kilroe Mile Stakes (gr. IT) in March, Black paid tribute by saying, "I was very happy for Buddy. He loved racing, and he loved his horses. He was such an enthusiastic man. I remember him so often after a victory saying, 'Wow, what a filly' or 'Wow, what a colt.' Buddy had a huge smile and a manner that was infectious. His face would just light up after a win – sort of like a kid in a candy store.

"In my time in racing, the only person I can think of who had that same charisma was Chick Lang, the darling of Maryland racing and the ambassador for the state's racing all his life. He and Buddy led the pack in enthusiasm and love for the sport and the horses."

Black is in charge of 15 horses bred and raced by the Johnstons and partners. The stable's standard-bearer is 5-year-old What a View, who was dominant in winning the Kilroe in what was an audacious graded-stakes debut. Previously, he could be found among Cal-bred runners and prepared himself for the daunting Kilroe task by winning the California Cup Turf Classic Stakes earlier in the year. He came right back to add the grade III Thunder Road Stakes (see sidebar on page 34).

Black believes top-of-the-line Cal-breds stack up quite favorably with open-company horses and wouldn't hesitate to test the mettle of his top Cal-breds in open company. Though the Kilroe seemed a daring move, Black didn't hesitate, his reason being that "I knew he was good, and I thought it was a winnable race for him."

The other side of the coin in leaving Cal-bred races for open company brought this response from Black: "Sometimes it seems silly to go in open company because the Cal-bred racing program offers very good money. Why would you do that unless you have to; say, if your horse needs a race and there are no Cal-bred races that fit."

Black's adventures on the racetrack have been many, from riding for two years in Maryland against the likes of Mario Pino and Randy Romero, to bouncing around too many tracks to remember and dealing with "hot boxes" and "flipping" to keep weight under control.

Black, born in Las Vegas Nov. 28, 1963, recalls he had no trouble making weight when he broke in as a 16-year-old apprentice in Maryland.

"I weighed 86 pounds then, so I never was an overweight when weigh-in time came," he said. "But I grew eight inches and put on 30 pounds that first year and tacked 116 after that."

That one-year growth spurt haunted him for the rest of his career as weight problems piled up.

The one adventure that stands above all others occurred in a match race near Salinas, Calif., where at 10 years old and 40 pounds Black had no way to rein in his Quarter Horse mount at the end of the race and found himself and the horse skittering onto Highway 101. The two kept going until his father, Arden, who had jumped into his truck and pursued them, could get in front of the horse, get out of the truck, and bring him to a stop.

He spent his childhood with his father, a trainer who never took a training job unless he could bring Kenny along as a gallop boy. It all started for Kenny when at age 8 he began riding in match races. Father and son traveled from track to track, living in tack rooms and getting horses ready to race.

As a rider, Black found himself fighting his weight far more often than fighting a horse. Though he rode a while in California, most of his jockey career came at second- and third-tier tracks, finally leading him to leave racing and pick up work in the housing market.

However, it didn't take long for him to return to his first love — horses. He began breaking and training a few, and in 2006 he took out his trainer's license and began in earnest at San Luis Rey Downs with some help from trainer John Shirreffs.

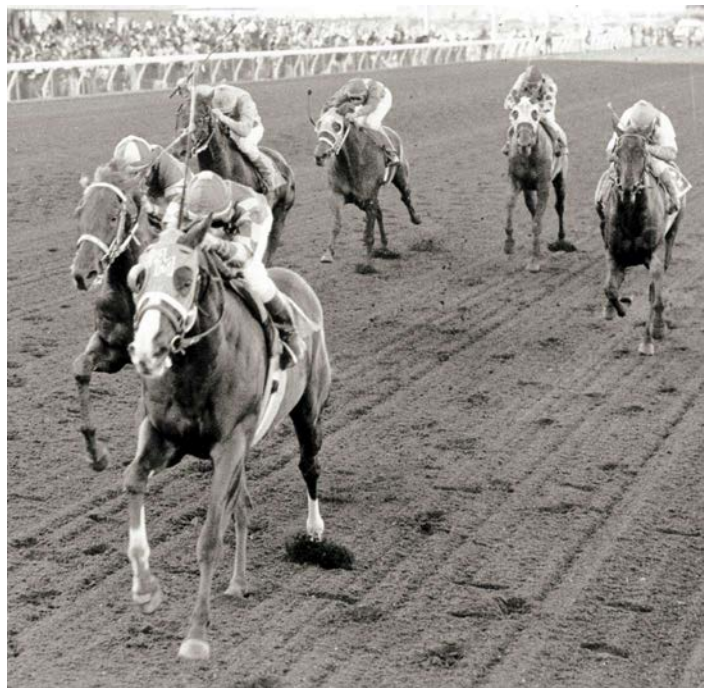

"John put me together with my first owner, Tom Shapiro, whose grandfather owned Native Diver," said Black. "I had about seven horses for him."

Later he handled a string of horses for trainer Mark Glatt at Fairplex Park before joining the Old English Rancho team as an assistant to the Johnston family's longtime trainer Don Warren. After Warren's retirement, Black became the nominal trainer for the stable, with Buddy Johnston having the final say.

"Buddy was the boss, and we all knew that and were okay with it," Black said.

Black's riding skills aid in his training career.

"I think there's an advantage to being able to get on a horse and feel what they're doing," he said. "I breeze nearly all of my horses, and I gallop a lot of them. It's a way of getting a handle on what a horse is like on the track and what kind of training it needs. Sometimes I'll let a jockey who is going to ride one of my first starters breeze the horse so he can get a feel for the horse."

Helping Kenny are his wife of 12 years, Theresa, and his younger brother Corey, who carved out quite a career for himself as a rider on the Southern California circuit. They both gallop horses for Black, who is quick to praise his wife for the shape of his training career.

"She grew up in England and was quite an equestrienne before turning to Thoroughbreds there," he said. "She came to America to gallop for Charlie Whittingham and has brought me many fine points for training from her career."

Black has mentioned that What a View's talents sometimes are compromised by some quirks. For example, Black said, one time the horse lost when he appeared to be gawking at the Del Mar tote board when he should have been intent on running to the wire for the victory.

Black said the tote-board episode actually began the morning of the race. What a View was being galloped in the dark at Del Mar, and the tote board was lit up and there was activity on it. When the gelding saw that, he stopped cold and stumbled. He was unhurt, but he re-lived that episode that afternoon heading for the finish line.

"The horse has the memory of an elephant," said Black. "He never forgets a thing, especially if he's been spooked by it."

As a precaution Black gallops What a View in blinkers. In another nod to What a View's quirks, he won't go to the track at Del Mar without accompaniment of a pony because, Black said, he was almost struck by another horse as he approached the gap leading to the track during morning training.

Even so, What a View's dance card is still going to be filled with the kind of races Old English hopes might prepare him for a run in a Breeders' Cup turf race, perhaps the Mile (gr. IT) this fall at Santa Anita, where he remains unbeaten on the grass.

While he's happy and proud of What a View's success, Black is hopeful for the return to racing of Old English's super-fast Acceptance, who reigned as the champion California-bred 2-year-old male of 2014. After some physical problems interrupted

Thunder in the Rain

BY TRACY GANTZ

Maybe some Californians stayed home when rain pelted the Santa Anita Derby (gr. I) card, but What a View said bring it on. The California-bred turf runner loves a soft course, and he completed a stakes triple with a victory in the $100,000 Thunder Road Stakes (gr. IIIT), one of the stakes on the April 9 undercard.

Jockey Kent Desormeaux had already won the Santa Anita Derby (gr. I) on Exaggerator and the Providencia Stakes (gr. IIIT) on Decked Out by the time trainer Kenny Black gave him a leg up on What a View. Instead of their usual front-funning tactics, Desormeaux and What a View stormed home from sixth, a strategy that worked perfectly.

"He was coming off the bridle today," said Desormeaux. "There's no way in the last month or two that he let me ride him like he let me ride him today. I think the horse is starting to figure (Kenny and me) out more than the other way around."

As the 9-10 favorite, What a View defeated second-choice Twentyvision by a length in 1:39.01 for the mile on yielding turf. Co-owners Judy Johnston and Rob Riccio accepted the trophy, and Judy noted that she received a boost from her late husband, E.W. (Buddy) Johnston, in watching her horse in the rain.

"I usually bring my little binoculars, but I couldn't find them," said Judy. "I brought Buddy's big ones instead."

Old English bred What a View in California with Patsy and Sal Berumen, and Buddy got to see the gelding's first few races. The 5-year-old son of Vronsky—Oceans N Mountains, by Manila, now has a four-race winning streak, following wins in an allowance optional claimer, the California Cup Turf Classic Stakes, and the Frank E. Kilroe Mile Stakes (gr. IT).

With the Thunder Road, What a View increased his record to six wins in 12 starts for earnings of $592,148.

his training and then he didn't perform up to par, Acceptance received some freshening time at Old English's Sanger spread.

"He's a cool horse," Black said. "He has a great personality, but he can be a handful, too. He's big and strong, and he's the boss in the barn. If he doesn't get fed first, he lets you know."

Though a generation apart, Black said he shared in Johnston's excitement and anticipation that comes with each year's babies. "I can hardly wait each year when the babies ship to the racetrack from the farm. I admit I'm not a patient man, so the constant changes in these young ones keep me interested in how they progress. They are changing from day to day."

Now in its third generation of administration at the legendary and long-standing California breeding giant that was started by E.W. "Pie Man" Johnston, Old English remains firmly a Johnston operation. Buddy's wife, Judy, continues to be involved, though their grandson, Jonny Hilvers, runs much of the day-to-day operation as the farm's manager.

"I remember the first time I saw him at the barn," Black said of Hilvers. "I told Buddy, 'You can be proud of him; he's a fine young man.'"

Black chuckled when he said Hilvers was "the first foal born at the Sanger ranch" after it moved from its longstanding site in Ontario. But there's praise instead of chuckling when Black calls Hilvers as "an old-school horseman in a 30-year-old man."

So it's no surprise that the two horsemen get along well and are developing even more Old English winners. CTB

Snow Proof, the top-priced Cal-bred to sell at Barretts select sale of 2-year-olds, brought $150,000 from trainer Bob Baffert

Rose Thoroughbreds, and Sue Greene's Woodbridge Farm consigned him to the yearling sale.

John Brocklebank bought Snow Proof for Vern Dickman's Dickman Legacy Ranch in Salt Lake, Utah. Brocklebank offered the youngster at the Barretts sale, where Snow Proof previewed a furlong in :10. That caught the eye of trainer Bob Baffert, who bought him.

Becky Thomas' Sequel Bloodstock consigned the other six-figure Cal-bred, purchased by Justin Casse. Steve Bussjaeger, Ed Gredvig, John Mendenhall, and Marko Swan bred the filly from the Tale of the Cat mare Cali Cali. The filly also previewed in :10. Thomas had bought her for $40,000 at the 2015 Barretts select yearling sale.

This year marked the first time Barretts conducted its select juvenile auction at Del Mar. The 2015 sale was held in late February as the final Barretts auction at Fairplex in Pomona.

The 2016 sale averaged $124,558 for 43 sold, a decline of 8.8% over 2015, when 45 averaged $136,622. The sale grossed $5,356,000 in 2016, compared to $6,148,000 in 2015. A total of 21 of the 64 horses through the ring did not sell, a buy-back rate of 32.8% compared to 30.8% last year, and the median was $100,000 both years.

"We were glad to see that the sale held its own on the average," said Lloyd. "The median was the same. Consignors were a little nervous coming out, and they had a right to be with a new place and a new time slot. The track played very fair and very safe, and our consignors were very pleased." CTB

CAL-BRED PINHOOKS AT BARRETTS

SNOW AT DEL MAR

BY TRACY GANTZ

Yearling pinhooks made up the majority of the Barretts select sale of 2-year-olds at Del Mar March 30, with California-breds a part of the action.

Six horses previewed the fastest during the March 28 under-tack session, each zipping a furlong in :09%. That time helped the $460,000 sale-topper, a Kentucky-bred son of The Factor—Broadway Lullaby, by Songandaprayer. Ciaran Dunne's Wavertree Stables consigned the colt, purchased by Emmanuel de Seroux's Narvick International for Japanese client Dr. Riki Takahashi.

A Cal-bred daughter of Good Journey also previewed in :09% as part of Andy Havens' Havens Bloodstock Agency consignment. Kirk Bell bred the filly, who is out of the Marty G mare Hay Whatsamaddau and is a half sister to stakes-placed Korban. BG Stables bought the filly for $85,000, and she had previously sold for $35,000 at the 2015 Barretts October sale.

Two Cal-breds reached six figures at the select juvenile auction. Snow Proof, a son of Idiot Proof, brought $150,000, and a daughter of Adios Charlie sold for $125,000.

Snow Proof had topped the 2015 Northern California Yearling and Horses of Racing Age Sale at $72,000. Timothy O'Leary bred the colt, a son of the Smart Strike mare Reine des Neiges. Ellen Jackson prepped him at Victory

JOSE RUBALCAVA

BY EMILY SHIELDS

Jose Rubalcava is more than just the farm manager at Victory Rose Thoroughbreds. He's also an inspiration to those who work beside him, including owner Ellen Jackson.

"I can't think of just any one instance that Jose stepped up and saved the day; there have been so very many," Jackson said. "I think it would be harder to think of a time when he didn't step up."

Rubalcava, 58, is a native of Jalisco, Mexico, and comes from an expansive family of 11 children.

"It was over an hour's walk to the schoolhouse," Rubalcava said. "Myself and two brothers made the trek for about a year, but the other kids would throw rocks at us because we weren't from their town. That was okay for us boys, but when they started throwing rocks at my sister, I refused to go to school again."

At the tender age of 7, Rubalcava started working full time at his parents' farm.

"It was normal where I grew up to start working at a very young age," he said. "We had horses, cows, goats, burros, chickens, cats, and dogs."

Rubalcava dreamed of a better life, and at age 20 he came to the United States to begin work on the racetrack.

"I (did that) for many years, but regularly returned home to the ranch life that I loved," he recalled. "When I started working for Ellen Jackson at the Determination and know-how coupled with an excellent work ethic were the keys to Jose Rubalcava's rise through the ranks at Ellen Jackson's Victory Rose Thoroughbreds track, I saw the chance to get back to the life I really felt was right for me and my family."

Jackson, who has now known Rubalcava for 25 years, was at first skeptical and didn't even have a spot available.

"I told him I didn't really have a job opening, but we could always use a good hand at the farm and I did have a small cottage available for him to live in," she said. "So he went from being an excellent groom to a jack of all trades at my farm."

"At that time, racetrack grooms were mostly Hispanic people working on an H-2 work visa, which required them to return to Mexico for four months every year to keep their visa current. Jose was the friend or relative who filled in during these shifts so grooms were guaranteed their jobs back when they returned. He was also brother to my assistant trainer, Alberto Rubalcava. He did the fill in for my barn a couple of times before he asked me if I needed any farm help. He wanted to settle down with his wife and family and wanted to provide more than just a tack room at the racetrack."

Jackson quickly realized that Rubalcava was invaluable.

"I wasn't sure of his abilities, so he just helped with everything. It soon became obvious he had many talents critical to keeping a farm running smoothly. He can confidently handle the stallions, put a new motor in a farm vehicle, repair a broken anything, halter break the weanlings, foal out a mare. Just about any sort of thing that needs doing on the farm, Jose can do."

Despite the interruption to his education, Rubalcava has flourished.

"My job covers all aspects of running a farm, from mechanical maintenance to handling the breeding stallions," he said. "I never learned to read or write, but I've developed a shorthand that I use to keep things organized and correct. I am on call 24/7 and can do most any job required to keep the farm running smoothly."

Now, Jackson can't imagine life without Rubalcava on the farm.

"I'm constantly amazed at how he can figure out how to solve a problem in a practical way," she said. "He never had a formal education, and I often think about what this man could have achieved had he had the opportunity of a good education. Even without, what he's made of his life is quite inspiring." CTB

CALIFORNIA SIRES AT BARRETTS

PROSPECTING FOR GOLD AT DEL MAR

COURTESY OF 22ND DISTRICT AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION

BY TRACY GANTZ

With 30 California sires represented in an early look at the catalog, the Barretts May sale will showcase the great strides being made by the state's breeding industry. Buyers will have a plethora of bloodlines to choose from, especially if they are looking for California-breds so that they can take advantage of the state's lucrative incentive program.

Barretts has slated its sale for May 27 at Del Mar, with the training preview scheduled for May 25. Though the prices in May typically don't reach those of Barretts' March select sale, this auction has seen more than its share of success from graduates on the racetrack.

Cal-bred Long Hot Summer, winner of the 2014 Generous Portion Stakes and a half sister to California champion Pacific Heat, is a $260,000 graduate of the 2014 May sale, which also produced El Camino Real Derby (gr. III) winner Metaboss. Both are by Street Boss, who will be represented by offspring in the catalog.

The Factor is another graduate of the May sale, and his first foals are proving popular. He cost $250,000 at the 2010 May sale and won such races as the Pat O'Brien Stakes (gr. I) and Malibu Stakes (gr. I). A colt by The Factor topped this year's Barretts March sale at $460,000, and the stallion will have a colt in the May catalog as part of California-based Bruno DeBerdt's Excel Bloodstock consignment.

In more recent years, the May sale has produced multiple graded winner Dice Flavor, a graduate of the 2012 sale. The 2013 edition produced Miesque Stakes (gr. IIIT) winner Full Ransom and Affirmed Stakes (gr. III) winner Can the Man.

Among California sires, Lucky Pulpit is far and away the leading sire this year, by virtue of California Chrome's popular victory in the Dubai World Cup (UAE-I). Lucky Pulpit and Unusual Heat, the latter always among the California leaders and for 12 years the leader by turf earnings, will have juveniles in the consignment of California-based Kim McCarthy's McCarthy Bloodstock.

Two other longtime California consignors, Andy Havens' Havens Bloodstock

Agency and Sam Hendicks, will have a plethora of juveniles by California sires. Havens and Hendricks both have 2-year-olds by deceased Tribal Rule. Havens also has one by Street Hero and by Southern Image, while Hendricks' group includes youngsters by such California stallions as Acclamation, The Pamplemousse, Dixie Chatter, and Blazonry.

Dynamic Sales Prep has a consignment chalk full of California sires while Spencer Training Stables will have three by California-based sire Papa Clem. The sires in the Dynamic group include Awesome Gambler, Grace Upon Grace, Marino Marini, and Time to Get Even.

More California sire power in the May catalog will be added through such stallions as Calimonco, Desert Code, Kafwain, Ministers Wild Cat, Old Topper, Slew's Tiznow, and Sundarban.

The May sale catalog will also consist of offspring by major national stallions, including Bodemeister, City Zip, Droselmeyer, Empire Way, First Dude, Forestry, Ghostzapper, Hansen, More Than Ready, Munnings, Sidney's Candy, Sky Mesa, Speightstown, Super Saver, Tale of the Cat, and Uncle Mo. CTB

THE CAL-BRED INCENTIVE PROGRAM

Questions and answers concerning California-breds and California's lucrative incentive awards program, which was responsible for breeders, owners, and stallion owners collecting more than $10 million for 2015.

WHO QUALIFIES FOR THE AWARDS?

The breeders and owners of registered California-bred Thoroughbreds and the owners of California-based stallions.

WHAT ARE BREEDERS AWARDS?

A monetary award that is paid to the breeder of a registered California-bred Thoroughbred finishing first, second, or third in any race run in California and any graded stakes races conducted within the United States. Breeders will receive 75% of the remainder of the total incentive award monies after owner awards are paid, with an individual breeder receiving a pro-rated share of this breeders fund. The maximum purse considered earned in any qualifying race within this state shall be $330,000 for a win; $120,000 for a second; and $90,000 for a third-place finish. Breeder awards always are paid exclusive of nomination, entry, and starting fees.

WHAT ARE OWNERS AWARDS?

A monetary award that is paid to the owner of a registered California-bred Thoroughbred horse that runs in qualifying races in California. Owners can receive at least a 20% bonus on the finisher's share for finishing first through fifth in an open allowance or overnight stake race and up to a 20% bonus for finishing first in an open starter allowance above $15,000 and open non-maiden claiming races with a claiming price of $40,000 or greater in Southern California and $20,000 or greater in Northern California. These levels are purposely set high to encourage the ownership of high-quality runners and to restrict the number of qualifiers so that the awards will function as a major incentive. Owner awards always are paid exclusive of nomination, entry, and starting fees. They are listed in the racing program and will be distributed at the same time as the purse by the paymaster.

WHAT IS THE MAIDEN BONUS PROGRAM?

A Maiden Bonus award will be paid to the owner of a registered California-bred or registered California-sired foal for winning a maiden special weight race. The bonus amount is $17,500 in Southern California and $10,000 in Northern California and at all Fair meetings throughout the state. These awards are paid directly to the owner approximately 45 racing days after the win. Only races at 4½ furlongs or longer will qualify.

WHAT ARE STALLION AWARDS?

In order to stimulate the acquisition in California of nationally prominent stallions, and retain high-caliber California stallions, monetary awards are paid annually to the owners of registered California stallions whose California-conceived or California-bred get have won a qualifying race or have finished, first, second, or third in a stakes race in the state or any graded stakes race within the United States during the year. Qualifying races are any non-claiming races, including maiden allowance and starter allowance races, with a purse of at least $15,000, and open non-maiden claiming races with a claiming price of $40,000 or greater in Southern California and $20,000 or greater in Northern California also qualify. Stallion awards are exclusive of nomination, entry, and starting fees. Stallions must be registered by Feb. 15 each year to be eligible for stallion awards. Stallion owners will receive 25% of the remainder of the total incentive award monies after owners awards are paid, with an individual owner of a registered California stallion (as of Dec. 31) receiving a pro-rated share of the stallion fund based on the total qualifying earnings of the get during the year. The maximum purse considered earned in any qualifying race within this state shall be $330,000 for a win; $120,000 for a second; and $90,000 for a third-place finish. The stallion must be continuously present in California from Feb. 1 to July 15, inclusive, of the year 2010 or any subsequent calendar year in which he stood at stud and fathered the participant in the race. If a sire dies in this state in the year 2010 or any subsequent year and stood his last season at stud in this state, or was standing at stud in this state on the date of his death in the year 2010 or any subsequent year, he shall thereafter continue to be considered an eligible Thoroughbred stallion regarding a race participant fathered by him in that season. The California Thoroughbred Breeders Association (CTBA) will help compile data, but it is the ultimate responsibility of the stallion owner to advise that official registering agency, on or before Feb. 15 of any year, of any and all purses earned during the preceding year that shall be considered in determining the amount of the stallion award to which the owner is entitled.

DOES THE PROGRAM INCLUDE RACES OUTSIDE OF CALIFORNIA?

Yes. The breeder of a California-bred Thoroughbred finishing first, second, or third in a graded stakes race outside of California, but within the United States, will be paid a pro-rated share of the breeders fund. The maximum purse considered earned in any race shall be $165,000 for a win; $60,000 for second; and $45,000 for a third-place finish. CTBA will help compile data, but it is the ultimate responsibility of the breeder to advise the official registering agency (CTBA), on or before Feb. 15 of any year, of any and all purses earned during the preceding year in graded stakes races outside of this state by horses bred by the breeder. Also, the owner of a registered California stallion whose California-conceived or California-bred get finished first, second, or third in a graded stakes outside of California, but within the United States, will be paid a pro-rated share of the Stallion fund with the maximum purse considered earned the same as the breeders above.

WHEN ARE THE PREMIUMS PAID?

Owner awards are paid at the same time as the purse by the paymaster. Breeder awards are paid twice a year with a conservative advance payment of approximately 8-10% being paid around Sept. 1 and the final payment for 2016 being paid by March 31, 2017. The stallion awards are paid prior to March 31, 2017.

ARE THERE SPECIAL RACING OPPORTUNITIES FOR CALIFORNIA-BREDS?

Yes. Racetracks in California are required by law to offer one race per day that is restricted to California-breds. Last year that amounted to 270 additional racing opportunities and more than $16 million in additional purses for California-breds. In addition, the California legislature has declared its intent that at least 10% of the total stakes purses paid at any race meeting in California be paid on stakes races restricted to registered California-breds. This amounted to almost $5 million in 2015 and will grow significantly through the creation of the Golden State Series. Also, in 2017, California Cup XXVII will be held at Santa Anita Park in January. Part of the funding for California Cup XXVII will come from the incentive award category, the California-bred Race Fund. Of the total incentive award monies, 9.5% will be used for this category, with the monies funding the promotion of California-bred races, the supplement of purses for California-bred races, and the creation of new California-bred stakes.

WHAT IS THE DEFINITION OF A CALIFORNIA-BRED?

The definition of a California-bred is as follows:
A California-bred Thoroughbred is a horse dropped in California after being conceived in California, or any Thoroughbred foal dropped by a mare in California if the mare remains in California to be next bred to a Thoroughbred stallion standing in the state. If the mare cannot be bred for two successive seasons but remains in California during that period, her foal will be considered a California-bred.

WHAT IS THE DEFINITION OF A CALIFORNIA-SIRED HORSE?

A “California-sired horse” is a Thoroughbred that was conceived in California by a registered California stallion. A California-sired horse is only eligible for entry in races restricted to California-bred or California-sired horses and is not eligible for any breeder or owner awards, except the maiden bonus awards.

HOW DOES ONE REGISTER A CALIFORNIA-BRED OR CALIFORNIA-SIRED HORSE?

Registration applications must be filed with the CTBA. Only those horses that are both registered with The Jockey Club and fulfill all requirements as outlined in the definition of a California-bred are eligible. The fees for registration are as follows:

- 1) $100.00 for CTBA members, $200.00 for non-members if applied for by Sept. 30 of the foal’s yearling year;
- 2) $125.00 for CTBA members, $250.00 for non-members if applied for after Sept. 30 of yearling but before Jan. 1 following; and
- 3) $750.00 if applied for after Jan. 1 of 2-year-old year.

If desired, application can be made in advance of receipt of Jockey Club Certificates to escape penalty for late filing, but no actual registration will be made until certificates are available. CTBA has representation at California tracks to help facilitate late registrations.

Introducing the 459E Round Baler: Economy Meets Productivity

Read how the all-new 459E Baler is the ideal full-time baler for part-time haymaking.

Whether farming is a part-time pursuit or you run a smaller livestock and equine operation, you'll get the perfect combination of economy and productivity with the new 459E Round Baler – the latest member in the E Series line up of value-spec John Deere equipment.

Starting at $22,833 MSRP*, the 459E replaces our popular 459 Standard baler and comes in two configurations: netwrap and twine. The netwrap configuration gives you a 75 percent reduction in bale wrapping time and up to 18 percent reduction in spoilage compared to our previous twine-only balers. That means you'll speed up baling and improve bale quality. The six rugged belts cover 90 percent of the bale chamber, providing up to 20 percent greater belt coverage than some competitive balers. This reduces leaf loss, captures more crop, and further adds to bale quality. You'll get all this plus some of the great features that come standard on 9 Series machines including durable Diamond™ chains, an adjustable hitch, and the BaleTrak™ Pro monitor.

Save time. Save money. Save room in your machine shed for the 459E Round Baler.

Lack of stress and a proper eating regimen might reduce a horse's chance of developing colitis

BY HEATHER SMITH THOMAS

Horses occasionally develop inflammation and ulceration of the gut lining, most commonly in the stomach (gastric ulcers). Colitis, or inflammation of the colon, is rarer, but can be very serious. For some reason, this problem tends to occur more in the right dorsal colon.

Dr. Anthony Blikslager, professor of equine medicine and surgery at the North Carolina State University College of Veterinary Medicine, says that in his experience, right dorsal colitis is exclusively associated with the use of non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug (NSAID) administration.

"The only cases I've seen have been triggered by use of phenylbutazone," said Blikslager. "We don't know what is peculiar about the right dorsal colon, versus the rest of the colon, regarding why that site is affected. One theory is that the colon contents (the digested food moving through) are changing at that point, near the end of the colon. The colon is doing less fermentation by then and more absorption of water. This might mean it is concentrating something within the food or changing the microbial population."

Some researchers have discussed whether there is a change in the blood circulation that supplies the colon at that location.

"Perhaps that part of the gut may be predisposed to problems because it's a bit more sensitive to changes in circulation," said Blikslager. "The reason that this scenario might be relevant is that prostaglandin—especially prostaglandin E2 (PGE2), which is thought to be protective, keeping the gut lining healthy—is inhibited by phenylbutazone.

"One of the things that PGE2 does is dilate blood vessels, under normal circumstances. Maybe the blood flow is a little bit more reduced in the right dorsal colon for some reason than in other parts of the colon. Then if you remove prostaglandins (by using phenylbutazone), the crucial blood circulation to that area might become compromised."

This would affect blood flow to the gut lining and hinder its mucus production. "The gut lining is very sensitive to changes in blood flow," said Blikslager, "because of its high demand for oxygen—which is used to help energize the necessary enzymes and transporters. It can't go without oxygen for very long."

Whether a horse might develop right dorsal colitis could be a combination of factors.

"If that particular horse is extremely stressed for some reason (which can change things in the gut), it might be more vulnerable to this problem," said

Blikslager. “Each horse also has its own individual microbial population. Some will have a few more ‘bad bugs’ in the gut than other horses. Then when you add phenylbutazone into that mix, and it slightly reduces the blood flow to the gut, this might be enough to push that particular horse over the edge in terms of the health of the lining.”

This is somewhat similar to the causes of ulcers in humans.

“In people, we used to think that ulcers were purely acid-caused, related to diet,” said Blikslager. “Now we understand that it is related to individual factors, to some degree, in specific people. It’s not just diet, although diet certainly plays a role. It’s also bacteria (particularly Helicobacter pylori). Problems in the gut are usually due to multiple factors. Inside the gut there is always a delicate interaction with the contents (food) and the lining of the gut, and the overall influence of the body on what’s going on in the gut.”

Fortunately, right dorsal colitis is a rare disease in horses. It used to be thought that this disease was due to an overdose of bute, but this is not necessarily the case because normal doses can also cause it. Many horses with arthritis that are on very low-maintenance doses to keep them comfortable do just fine, but some horses can’t tolerate long-term bute.

“We once had a horse here in the hospital that had an elective orthopedic procedure and was put on bute pre-operatively and remained on bute post-operatively at correct dosing, and acutely developed right dorsal colitis. It was so severe that we lost that horse.”

Most cases are sub-acute (slower in progression), however.

“Rather than (a horse) developing colitis within the first 24 hours of being on bute, it comes on more slowly—within about a five-day period after being started on bute,” said Blikslager. “There are many cases where it’s actually chronic. The horse has been on bute for days, weeks, or even months, and then develops a problem.”

“This problem can catch you off guard in two different ways. It can surprise you if it happens very quickly and you were not expecting it and haven’t even had a chance to wean the horse off bute. Or it can happen in other cases in which the horse is seemingly okay with bute and is on it for a long period of time—and suddenly there is some sort of change and the horse develops colitis.

“We are not telling people to stop using bute. It is the cheapest and most practical way to treat a horse with chronic arthritis, which affects a large portion of the horse population. All we can do is advise horse owners about sensible dosing. This means giving the horse as little as possible for as short a time period as possible.

“The upper end of the labeled dose is approximately two grams twice a day for an average-sized horse. We may give one dose at this level but then suggest giving one gram twice a day, to start with, and difficult to protect it.”

The right dorsal colon is at the very end of the colon, before it turns across the abdomen as the transverse colon and then out through the small colon. The right dorsal colon and transverse colon are the areas just before fecal balls start forming as water is withdrawn from the contents.

“Interestingly, this is the same place that sand collects in a sand impaction, or where you might find an enterolith,” said Blikslager. This part of the tract seems to catch things that might otherwise move through.

“We jokingly complain about the horse’s digestive tract being so convoluted, especially at about the pelvic flexure—

Many cases of right dorsal colitis are difficult to detect, so any subtle changes in behavior should not be ignored and the horse should be examined by a veterinarian then wean down to one gram once a day as quickly as possible. For the horses that essentially stay on bute for maintenance soundness or pain control, another approach is not necessarily to give it every day. Give the horse a day off from it periodically. During that day off, the prostaglandins could bounce back and restore the gut lining to health before the horse goes back on bute again.

“With gastric ulcers (in the stomach, rather than back in the colon), there are other things you can combine for treatment, like antacids. With the colon, however, it is so far away from anything you can give the horse by mouth that it is very

the area of colon with a hairpin turn. The right dorsal colon, by contrast, is not as tight a turn but it is still a bend, like going around a corner, from the right dorsal to the transverse colon. Fortunately, this location can be imaged with ultrasound. It has a fixed location, as opposed to much of the rest of the colon, which is more variable.

“The right dorsal colon can be consistently found—near the 12th intercostal space (between those two ribs), tucked in behind the liver—and readily imaged with ultrasound. Going up and down the 11th, 12th, and 13th intercostal space with the ultrasound probe, looking for the liver, we can then come off the back of the liver once we've located it and find the right dorsal colon. Then we can check the thickness of its lining. Ordinarily, it should be about two millimeters thick, at that position, and anything more than that would be abnormal."

DIAGNOSIS AND TREATMENT

Many cases can be difficult to pick up. Most horses with right dorsal colitis tend to have subtle signs. They may simply eat less and look a bit depressed and dull. A subtle change in behavior might not seem significant, but should not be ignored.

"It is important to have the veterinarian examine the horse," said Blikslager. "He/she may not notice much that's very definitive, so it is important to run some routine bloodwork and check the total protein. A biochemical panel will show the serum protein and also the albumen, the most important protein for normal circulatory function. In addition, a CBC (complete blood count) may show a low white blood count, specifically neutrophils. With these findings, I'd ask the owner more questions, and whether the horse was on bute."

“ All we can do is advise horse owners about sensible dosing (with bute). This means giving the horse as little as possible for as short a time period as possible.”

— Dr. Anthony Blikslager

This is always a very important part of the history—the medications the horse has been given. One problem, if a horse has been on bute for a long time, is a tendency for the owner or trainer to actually increase the dose when the horse is not feeling as good, which would be the wrong thing to do.

"If the bloodwork came back showing low protein and low neutrophil count, then your veterinarian would come back and ultrasound the horse, or refer it to someone else to ultrasound it," said Blikslager. "This would reveal the thickened gut lining, if the cause of these changes was right dorsal colitis.

"Most veterinarians are very comfortable using ultrasound to image the reproductive tract, tendons, and some other soft tissue structures, but are not comfortable imaging the abdomen. It's not something they would typically do for a colic, for instance. If they don't feel comfortable doing this, they can send the horse to someone who does or call someone who knows more about that."

If the history shows the horse being on bute, with subtle clinical signs, and then the bloodwork shows the protein is low, another option is to just start treatment.

"The immediate thing is to get the horse off bute," said Blikslager. "We would also replace the PGE (prostaglandin E) that is needed. This can be done with a drug called Misoprostol, which is synthetic PGE1, very similar to PGE2."

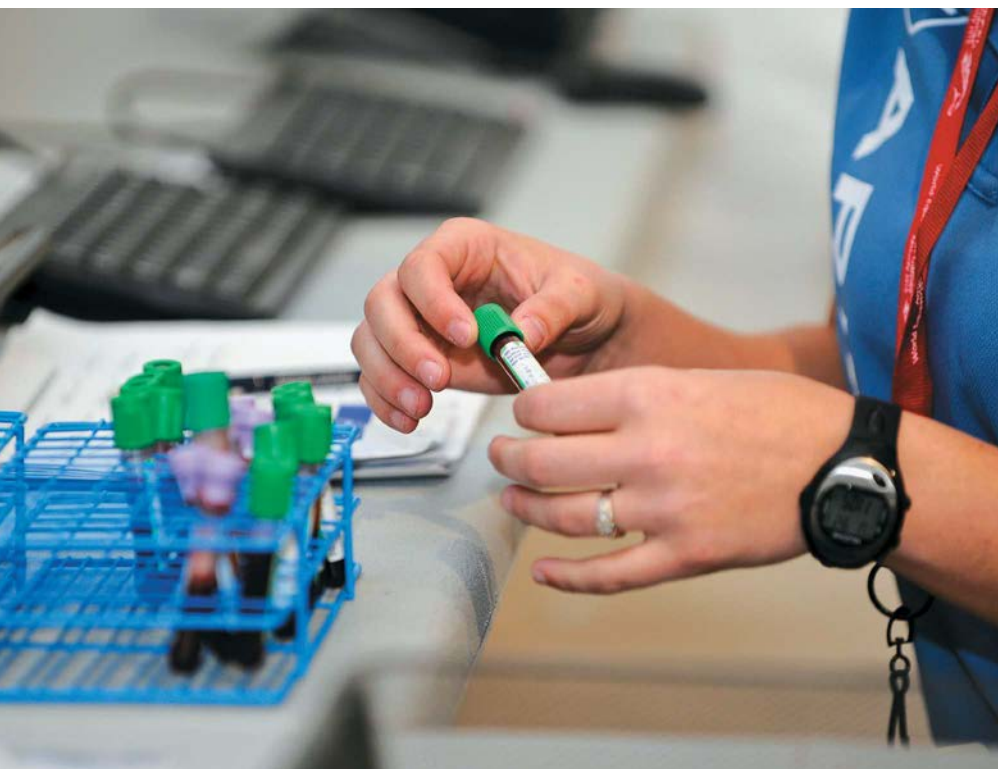

It also helps to put the horse on a low-residue diet with less bulk, such as a pelleted ration that is mostly digested before it reaches the right dorsal colon.

"This would help rest that area of the bowel. Veterinarians generally recommend this for up to three months. It's a slow process, to heal the lining and get the protein level to come back up.

"The hard ones to deal with are the horses you treat like this but they keep deteriorating. Colitis is literally an ulcer of the gut and implies inflammation. The thickening of the lining is due to a lot of inflammatory cells and some scar tissue starting to form. The vital inner lining of epithelium that protects the body from what's inside the gut is now gone. Without this protection, the horse can become endotoxemic. If a horse is not going to recover, usually it's because of a combination of reduced protein and endotoxemia."

With some horses, the protein just keeps dropping, which is very frustrating. Protein can be provided in the form of plasma, but that is expensive long term. At some point the horse has to stop losing protein or he won't survive.

"This is similar to many other colic-type problems; if it comes on quickly, they are more difficult to save. If it comes on slowly, you have a much better chance of being able to get them back to health. The rapid ones are probably due to a sudden loss of gut mucosa, and the resulting endotoxemia. Horses with right dorsal colitis have a guarded prognosis, which means less than 50% of them make it.”

Serious cases that come on suddenly might show fever and diarrhea. Others present with more subtle signs, such as behavioral changes and going off feed.

“In a horse with fever and diarrhea, my first thought would be colitis affecting the whole colon,” said Blikslager. “This is absolutely a medical emergency, and these horses are frequently difficult to save because they lose so much fluid via the diarrhea. If the horse is systemically sick, there will also be some absorption of endotoxins into the bloodstream, and that will really complicate things. This would be an acute presentation.

“Some veterinarians don’t use Misoprostol for treatment because it can cause horses to colic a little and they don’t feel comfortable with that. But in our hospital, in the cases we’ve treated, we’ve found that this was an important part of what enabled us to get them back to health. We felt the benefit of getting the prostaglandins back into the horse outweighed the concern about them getting crampy. We knew we could stop the drug or lower the dose if they did.” CTB

SUBSTITUTES FOR BUTE

Other NSAIDs can be used as alternatives to bute if a horse is sensitive to that medication.

“The other drug labeled for osteoarthritis that is supposed to be safer for the gut is Equioxx, but it’s a lot more expensive,” said Dr. Anthony Blikslager of North Carolina State University. “Many people continue to use bute because it is cheap and easy—putting the powder in grain, or mixed with water and molasses and squirted into the mouth if the horse won’t eat it in grain, or using the apple-flavored paste.

“Many people don’t even think about possible side effects of a drug like this because it’s so commonly used and most horses do fine with it. You can probably find it in most horse barns. But if you realize that not every person can take aspirin or Advil, they might understand how not all horses can tolerate bute.

“There are newer NSAIDs on the market called COX-2 inhibitors. The one on the market for horses is Equioxx.

This can be used for something like arthritis (in which the horse is being treated continually), with the idea that it has a safer gut profile. In theory, this is true. It comes in a paste formulation for horses.”

The same drug comes in a canine formulation, called Previcox.

“It’s a small pill, and many horse owners are using this little pill rather than the more expensive Equioxx,” said Blikslager. “But that is off-label. When there is an FDA-approved formulation for the horse, you are not supposed to use the other. In many situations there are no drugs approved for horses, and in those cases we can use drugs that are off-label.”

The formulation for dogs has not been studied for safety and efficacy in horses.

“If you use it, and the horse has a problem related to the drug (like kidney, stomach, or gut problem), this could be an issue,” said Blikslager.

The statistics shown here are compiled by The Jockey Club Information Systems (TJCIS). While every effort is made to prevent errors and omissions, California Thoroughbred cannot guarantee their complete and total accuracy. A dagger (†) indicates a stallion that has been pensioned or has died, a dot (•) that he is now standing elsewhere (sires no longer standing in California remain on these lists until their last Cal-bred crop turns 3 years old). Freshman sires are highlighted in bold text. Statistics cover racing in North America (U.S., Canada and Puerto Rico), England, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates (UAE) only. Stakes winners and wins follow TJCIS stakes rules. Racing statistics through Apr. 17, 2016.

These statistics are for active California-based sires with a minimum of 50 foals of racing age, ranked here by their lifetime Average Earnings Index (AEI). The statistics shown here are compiled by The Jockey Club Information Systems (TJCS). While every effort is made to prevent errors and omissions, California Thoroughbred cannot guarantee their complete and total accuracy. A dagger (†) indicates a stallion that has been pensioned or has died, a dot (•) that he is now standing elsewhere (sires no longer standing in California remain on these lists until their last Cal-bred crop turns 3 years old). Freshman sires are highlighted in bold text. Statistics cover racing in North America (U.S., Canada and Puerto Rico), England, France, Germany, Hong Kong, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates (UAE) only. Stakes winners and wins follow TJCS stakes rules. Percentages are based upon number of named foals of racing age.
